MUST KEEP THE PEACE

SUSPECT BOMB THROWERS PUT UNDER BONDS.

Reis and Camacho Must Give Surety in $2,500 That They Will Not Injure Consul Canavaro.

Luis de Camacho Camacho and Henrique Goncalves Reis are required to give bonds in the penal sum of $2,500 with good and sufficient security to keep the peace, especially as to A. de Sousa Canavaro, for the period of one year.

Such was the termination of the proceedings in the District court against the two men who are suspected of the attempt against Consul Canavaro's life with an explosive bomb, early in the morning of May 4.

The testimony against the two men was from the mouths of several witnesses. Ex-Police Officer Ferreira testified that last December he heard Reis say in Dias' guitar store that he would get even with Mr. Canavaro if he had to spend the rest of his life in jail. Mr. Dias corroborated this testimony. Deputy Sheriff Fernandez de Ewa testified that he had heard Reis say the consul ought to be gotten rid of, and that he would send him to hell, and that Camacho had used similar language.

It was brought out that when Reis had a suit against the Oahu railway, the consul had not done all in his behalf that he thought the consul ought to have done, and his belief often expressed that thereby the decision went against him, though a motion for a new trial is pending. From this Reis had conceived animosity against the consul, which was expressed in a petition to the Portuguese government for a commission to investigate the conduct of the consul. This petition was written by Camacho, who seems to have been the scholar among those opposed to the consul. It was signed by Camacho and Reis and a few others, including two women.

There was also considerable testimony as to the whereabouts of the two men on the night of the explosion. Mr. Canavaro testified that the threats of these two men against him had been repeatedly reported to him, and that he had received several warnings, by anonymous letter and otherwise, to be on his guard against "the men of Ewa," by which was meant the two defendants. He testified that he was in fear they would do him harm.

For the defense, Reis took the stand. He denied the threatening language attributed to him, and gave an account of his movements during the week the bomb exploded. He made a very good appearance on the stand, being self-composed, and displaying no vindictiveness.

Judge J. M. Davidson, who defended the two men, argued that Reis had been in the country ten years, and Camacho seventeen, but neither had ever before been charged with any offense. What they had said was in the heat of passion and made so little impression on those who heard it that none of them had thought it worth while to report it to the consul. But because they had sent a petition to the Portuguese government asking for a commission to investigate the acts of the Portuguese consul, and because some one had attempted to kill the consul, they were required to give bonds to keep the peace, when giving bonds would mean expense to them, and if they were unable to give them would mean that they were to be deprived of their liberty.

There was nothing to connect them with the bomb explosion. Their petition in regard to the consul was clearly within their right of petition, and their words, when spoken were not taken seriously by those who heard them. He hoped we had not come to that state which existed in Rome when a man was executed simply because he had dreamed that he had cut the tyrant's throat.

Marshal Brown argued that their words and acts through a long period of time showed that they harbored vindictive and revengeful feelings against the consul. These words and acts were not the mere expression of a burst of passion, but showed a permanent state of mind of hatred and revenge. While there was no evidence to connect them directly with the three attempts against the consul's life, the evidence clearly showed a permanent hatred expressed from time to time which reasonably might, and actually had put the consul in fear of them, and that their case was thus brought directly within the statute.

Judge Wilcox in deciding the case, said that it was brought on the sworn complaint of Mr. Canavaro that he was in fear of them. Evidence of three made extending over a long period of time was as conclusive. And the statute under the evidence threw on them the duty of convincing the court that there was no reason for fear, which they had failed to do. To make the bond a small one would be farcical. He would therefore require bonds in the sum of $2,500 each. An appeal will probably be taken.

THE DEMOCRATIC MEETING

PORTUGUESE WILL NOT JOIN THE PARTY.

One of Their Prominent Men so Informs Dr. McGrew—More About the Meeting Tomorrow Night.

The list of Democrats published yesterday did not give all of the known names and some of those given will probably affiliate with the Republican party. They were of men whose opinions are known to be that way and were published, not as a complete list, but to show the general complexion of character of the party here.

Dr. McGrew has been informed by a prominent Portuguese that that colony will not affiliate with the Democratic party. It seems to be the disposition of the Portuguese to hold off as the natives are doing and get into some sort of independent organization.

What the Hawaiians will do about the Democratic meeting is not known. It is said that many will attend but the majority will hold off. They seem to be waiting for the return of the Queen and her advice in the matter. Most of the prominent Hawaiians believe that the advice will be to organize independently under Robert Wilcox and others and to oppose both political parties. It is not believed that all natives will follow any such advice, though a majority may.

The drill shed is being gotten in order for tomorrow night's meeting. Chairs will be moved in tomorrow morning. No program has been framed, though it seems to be the impression that Dr. McGrew, E. B. McCleanahan, Colonel C. J. McCarthy and several native orators will speak. Dr. McGrew will likely call the meeting to order. Then a chairman will be elected, and the business will proceed.

THE CONJUGAL RELATION. An Address by District Judge Luther Wilcox.

"When people are married they are the one individual," said the court.

"They don't get new tempers with the giving and exchanging of a ring, and they aren't made over all at once to fit each other. They've got to learn to give and take, to bear and forbear."

"Now if your wife likes to go away from home once in a while," he continued, addressing the husband, who was the defendant, "you must remember that the man is out all day hearing the news and learning what's going on, and meeting his friends in the course of his business. While his wife is at home sewing and washing dishes, and looking after the house work, and it becomes irksome after a while, and she wants to get out and see people and things."

"And the woman ought to remember that when she is married her duty is to her husband," he continued addressing the wife, "and she ought not to go away from home without necessity, without letting him know. And when she does go away from home she had a good deal better go in company with her husband."

"If only half as much effort," he concluded, addressing the woman, "were spent in trying to make things smooth after marriage as there usually is during the courtship to make a good impression, neither you nor any other married couple would ever come into this court."

And then, to impress his admonitions on the differing couple, he suspended and suspended sentence for three months.

PORTUGUESE SENTIMENT. Message the Australia Will Carry to Lisbon.

As an expression of its sentiments toward Mr. Canavaro, the Portuguese colony is forwarding a telegram by the Australia to the Foreign Office at Lisbon, expressing its indignation at the dastardly attempt of some crazy individual against their consul and friend Senhor Canavaro, for whom they have a great affection. And in this they are not alone for Mr. Canavaro enjoys the esteem and sympathy of the entire community.

AUSTRALIA LEAVES. The Australia will have an old-time send-off this afternoon. For the first time since last December she is leaving without any quarantine restrictions.

There is a large passenger list and a large crowd began to gather early this afternoon to see friends depart. As in old times there are less in abundance. The steamer will leave on time, at 4 o'clock.

RAILWAY IMPROVEMENTS. E. A. Fraser of Mahukona, manager of the Hualalai Railroad left today for the Kilauea. He has secured an option on one of the locomotives of the American Sugar company for his road, which is increasing its rolling stock considerably, besides greatly improving its roadbed, to keep up with the increase of business.

JUDGE WILDER DESIGNS

HEAD OF THIRD AND FOURTH CIRCUITS.

Resignation Debated by Cabinet This Morning But No Action Taken—New School Named "Kaahumanu."

Judge Gardner K. Wilder has resigned from the office of judge of the third and fourth circuit courts. The same was considered by the Cabinet this morning. A successor will not be appointed until after the Hawaiian bill goes into effect. Then a judge will be appointed for each of the two circuits on Hawaii. It is understood that Judge Barnard is a candidate for one of the places.

The Cabinet this morning decided to name Beretania street school "Kaahumanu school." Kaahumanu was the wife of Kamehameha the Great. She was much interested in education and was an important factor in elevating the Hawaiian people in the early days of the century.

The Minister of Interior was authorized to draw, until further notice, the sum of $10,000 a month for roads in Honolulu.

W. O. Aiken, of Makawao, and J. C. Lennhart, of Kalaea, North Kona, were appointed notary publics.

H. C. Norton, Waianae, and Charles David, Waialua, were given licenses to sell light wine and beer.

After the meeting Minister Young took leave of his colleagues and will sail by the Australia for San Francisco. The work of the Interior office is left in the hands of Chief Clerk Hassinger.

CAPT. HUBBARD ON DECK

THE OLD MASTER STAYS WITH THE S. N. CASTLE.

Here on His Hundred and Eleventh Trip in Her from San Francisco—Reported Resignation not a Fact.

Captain Hubbard is here again in command of the barkentine S. N. Castle after missing one trip on account of ill health. It was reported in San Francisco that the captain had decided to resign, having come to the conclusion that his long service on the sea entitled him to rest for the remainder of his days, but captain Hubbard says he has no idea of settling down yet. The mate took the vessel last time because captain Hubbard was a trifle under the weather, but the master is on deck again now.

The present trip is the 111th that captain Hubbard has made to Honolulu in the S. N. Castle. He has been with the trim little freighter ever since she was built, fourteen years ago, making an average of about nine trips a year in her. The Castle is one of the Sprackles line and has for its master since her days, but captain Hubbard says he will continue on the Honolulu-San Francisco run.

The master of the S. N. Castle has followed the sea since '54, when he began as a boy, working his way through the forecastle to the cabin. His first trip to Honolulu was made about thirty years ago and he has been coming here at intervals, short intervals after the building of the S. N. Castle, ever since. Captain Hubbard is one of the best known ships' masters among the many who have been regular callers here during the past several decades when Honolulu was growing from a small community with only a vessel calling now and then, to its present commercial importance. Every kamaaina knows captain Hubbard and the S. N. Castle, and remembers the days when their periodical visits were looked forward to more than mail steamer arrivals are now.

SMITH FILES ACCOUNTS. W. O. Smith this morning filed a number of accounts in the Circuit court. As guardian of Annie Hall, $2,562.58 and $2,422.93; as trustee of estate Achi K. Ahua, $1,596.25 and $2,562.12; as guardian of Bill Bray, $825.69 and $589.

GORGEOUS FLOWERS. There is an exhibition in McInerney's window today several gorgeous specimens of Gloxinia from S. M. Damon's hot house. The coloring in the flowers is something marvelous. These are but a few specimens of Mr. Damon's splendid collection.

THE WEATHER. Weather Bureau, Punahou, 1 p. m. Wind light northeast; weather partly cloudy; fine weather this morning; slight showers this afternoon and evening.

AUTOMOBILES ARE COMING

NOW AT PORT COSTA READY TO BE SHIPPED.

Waiting There for Application of the Hawaiian Bill When They Will Come In Duty Free.

The old Hopper house on King street near Kawaiahaoho church has been moved away and work on the foundation of the new automobile power house and ware rooms has begun. It is calculated to finish up by the middle of July.

The electric hacks of the company are stored at Port Costa, California, awaiting the application of the Hawaiian bill when they will come down free of duty. They will be shipped so as to arrive here between the middle of July and first of August, and will be put on the streets at once. The reason for not bringing them in the last of June is that the power house will not be ready and there is not storage room.

Some of the hackmen are selling out on account of the new rigs. They say that, for a long time at least, the horseless vehicles will be a novelty and will be used by everybody; and that at the best they will seriously cut into the hack business. Some of the wealthier hackmen are buying stock in the automobile company. It is understood that one of the prominent hack stands will give up its horses altogether and handle "mobes" for the new concern.

Another industry to start very soon now is the new ice works and refrigerator at Kewalo, to be operated by Theo. Hoffman. All the machinery for this concern is on the Bloemfontein which is due today. It was shipped by way of Seattle. Mr. Hoffman states that the machinery will be installed at once and that the works will be able to start early in June.

This concern will for the present only handle ice and carry on a refrigerator business. In 1903 it purposes putting in an electric plant. Until that time the Hawaiian Electric Company holds an exclusive franchise.

FRANK HUSTACE RESIGNS

HE LEAVES THE KAMALO SUGAR COMPANY.

Was Treasurer of the Concern and Its Financial Backbone—Other Officers Can Not Resign.

Frank Hustace has resigned from the office of treasurer of the Kamalo Sugar Company. Before the resignation can be accepted, however, the company will have to pay Mr. Hustace a considerable sum advanced out of his own pocket to the plantation. It is understood that this amount is $2,000.

All of the officers and directors are disposed to resign but are just now in such a position that they can not "let go." If they do, a complete reorganization of all the machinery of the company will be necessary. As the matter now stands there is not a quorum of stockholders to do this and the only way to manage it would be to throw the stock books open again.

The principal man the "clickers" are shooting at is Frank Foster. He is merely a director, but is in a position like the others. James F. Morgan, the president of the company, leaves today for California. Harry Armitage is secretary. Frank Hustace, the treasurer, was one of the strong men in the company and his departure from it will be unfortunate in every way.

The delinquent stockholders say they will pay if a new directorate is put in and their other conditions are complied with. This is probably true of some but others would not pay if they were officers themselves.

Bankruptcy proceedings have not yet been instituted, but they are threatened. The Worthington Pump Company is the concern that wants money. In this controversy there is not a division of sentiment between stockholders and directors, both sides agreeing that the contract was not promptly filed and that the money should not be forthcoming until the machinery is here and approved.

SUGAR CONTRACTS. Agencies Unite in a Committee to Make Contracts.

The plantation agencies have all united in a committee to make contracts for the sale of sugar for the next three or five years. The committee consists of P. C. Jones, E. D. Tenney, J. P. Cooke and H. P. Baldwin. The present contract with the sugar trust expires with the present crop. The basis of the expiring contract is the New York price on the day of arrival, less one-tenth of a cent per pound, for sugar at the Atlantic seaboard. The basis of sugar arriving at San Francisco is the New York price less three-eighths of a cent a pound.

All the plantations which had not already authorized their agent to enter into agreement in the matter gave the authorizations at meetings held for the purpose yesterday.

A CORRECTION. An error was made in yesterday's Star in putting the name of Louis T. Kenake in the list of Democrats.

NEW LIVERY. The City Carriage Company are prepared to furnish stylish, up-to-date buggies, rigs and surreys at all hours, delivered at the door.

JOHN ANDRADE Manager. Telephone 113.

McInerney's shoes are right in it. They are made by the leading factories of America, and consequently have no equal.

McINERNEY SHOE STORE. The Golden Rule Bazaar is still right up to date with the latest published books. No use to look further for late books when they haven't what you want.
